SCHOOL BOARD

Old Trustees Last Night Gave Way to New Ones.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS WITHOUT ANY CHANGE.

The "Political" Resolution Passed At Last Meeting of Board Was Reconsidered and Killed.

A SPECIAL SESSION: TUESDAY NIGHT NEXT

Last evening at the Washington school building on West Broadway the old trustees went out of existence and the new body came into effect, and now has charge of the scholastic institutions of the city. President Harry F. Williamson was re-elected to serve for two years, but as his term as trustee expires the last of this year, he cannot serve the last of this year's presidency unless he is re-elected to the board by the people at the next November election. He went into the body the first of last year for a two years term that closes with arrival of 1907. He served last year as president, in filling out the remaining year of the two year presidential term of former president Dr. J. R. Coleman, who resigned from the body.

Last night in winding up things President Williamson called the old board to order and found all present in exception of Farley, Troutman, Harrison and Mattison, who were absent.

Trustee Sutherland, who goes out, then moved that the board reconsider the resolution they adopted last night, and which document there would not be elected to the position in the public schools any longer recognized as a conniving.

In moving that the resolution be reconsidered Member Sutherland had created considerable interest and he did not want anything to be done that would have any effect on the harmonious condition of the board. He is the father of the resolution and brought it in Tuesday evening, but it was now revoked by a unanimous vote.

The minutes of this short session of the old board and also the minutes of Tuesday night were then read, approved and signed up by the trustees, and the old body adjourned to die.

The new trustees, together with the old-over members of the old body, then ushered the new board into existence. The adjournment sine die of the old board left the trustees without a president for the new body, so Member Peter Bechenback, one of the new trustees, took the chair as temporary president and called the new session. All were there except Harrison and Mattison. Kames from the First, Harrison from the Second, and List from the Third, Bechenback and Walston from the Fourth, Byrd and Morris from the Fifth and Troutman and Marlow from the Sixth. All are Republicans with exception of Mr. Davis, who is Democrat and the only one elected to the new body.

Temporary President Bechenback then informed the trustees that the first thing in order was to elect officers. Member Walston nominated Williamson for the chair, and being no other candidate he was elected by a unanimous vote.

Member Patter then nominated Walston for vice president. The election was also unanimous.

The only paid office in the city has been getting $200 per year. Member Patter moved that it be increased to $300 annually. The motion was seconded and it carried all the votes except Bechenback's and Walston's, who opposed the increase.

At this juncture there was sprung a question that Trustee Byrd was unable to sit in the board, and a class city charter provision that anyone holding a county office cannot at the same time be a school trustee, then was taken up once. The question was then referred to the special committee on county board matters, which are in the city hall.

amounts to. As they did not know the thorough law on the subject, Temporary President Bechenback selected a committee of three to look into the matter and report upon the eligibility of Byrd at the next meeting, which will be the Tuesday night of next week. This committee named comprises List, Morris and Patter.

After the salary of the secretary was fixed Trustee Patter then nominated Dr. W. H. Fitcher for that office, which he has creditably filled during the past twelve months, and there being no other nominations Mr. Bechenback cast the vote for the entire board and made the selection unanimous.

This finishing up the organization business, Mr. Bechenback vacated the chair, to which President Williamson was escorted by Trustee Patter. The doctor made a neat speech of acceptance and thanks, and said he would immediately name his different committees and give them to the newspapers, where the trustees could scan and find what body they had been assigned to.

The trustees then adjourned, until next Tuesday evening, when a special session will be held for purpose of figuring up what amount of money they will need to run the schools this year. The trustees figure up the total sum requisite and then inform the municipal legislative officials so there can be included in the tax rate the amount desired by the trustees. The schools cannot ask more than thirty-five cents tax upon the $100 taxable property, but as they took limit last year and run a little short, they will doubtless ask for the full 35 cents this year, as they have a number of important improvements in contemplation.

WANTS JUDGES KEPT OUT OF POLITICS.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 4.—An echo of Tuesday night's Democratic senatorial caucus was the introduction of a bill in the upper branch of the assembly intended to prohibit Appellate judges and Circuit judges from taking an active part in politics. It is claimed that Judge Paynter had, in John M. Lassing of Boone County, his most active manager.

ON VERGE OF WAR PRINCIPALS MEET

WERE ENGLAND AND GERMANY RECENTLY, IT IS ALLEGED.

Facts Not Before Published That Are Vouched for—Britain Was Ready.

London, Jan. 4.—The inner history of the Anglo-German dispute in connection with the concession made to Germany in Maderia can now be disclosed and shows plainly that England and Germany were recently almost on the verge of war. The truth of the following facts can be vouched for despite any denials that may be issued.

The German concessionaries in Maderia desired to expropriate a British subject, but Portugal declined to insist on the expropriation. Germany threatened to send warships to the Tagus and Portugal thereupon informed the British minister at Lisbon. British squadrons left Gibraltar immediately and took up a position fifty miles from the mouth of the Tagus. This movement was carried out so secretly that news of it did not get into any of the newspapers.

No Warning.

Then followed a momentous discussion in London. The British admiral there was in favor of giving no information to Germany and allowing the German warships to proceed unsuspectingly toward the Tagus. Eventually, however, it was decided officially to inform Portugal of the fleet's position and readiness to support her.

The information was quickly handed to the German minister at Lisbon and no more threats were heard.

Portugal begged German and Great Britain to settle the Maderia affair between themselves and Germany is now willing to give up her concession if Great Britain will persuade Portugal to indemnify the concessionaries. Thus an incident which at one time was more serious than the public ever imagined gives promise of an early settlement.

Deserters.

The British admiralty has decided to take no action against the sailors of Prince Louis of Battenburg's squadron, who deserted while the squadron was in America, but any of them who may give themselves up or be handed over by the American authorities will not be reinstated even after punishment.

RAILROAD RATE LEGISLATION WILL BE CONSIDERED

Meeting of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce Called for Friday.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Chairman Elkins, of the senate committee on interstate commerce, has called a meeting of the committee for Friday to consider railroad rate legislation. Senator Elkins has been preparing a bill to submit to the committee which will be on the lines he announced some weeks ago. There are a number of measures which the committee can consider, among them being the interstate commerce bill and the Dillman bill, the Tillman bill and the Newlands bill, Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, is preparing a bill which he will present to the committee. It will follow closely the suggestions contained in the message of President Roosevelt on rate regulations.

Miss Lizzie Singleton Cannot Yet Resume Teaching—Wind Blew Window From Room.

Yesterday afternoon after study hours Superintendent Lieb, of the public schools, held a meeting of the principals from each building over the city, and they talked over their work for the ensuing week. Ordinarily the session with the principals is held every Friday afternoon, but during the first week of each month it is held upon Thursday, as the first Friday closes the scholastic month, and the principals have to be at their respective buildings that afternoon to receive the monthly reports from the teachers under them, showing the standing of each pupil in every room. The principals take these reports, go over them and then pass the documents over to the superintendent. The principals' meeting is changed to Thursday on these occasions because the last Friday of the scholastic month they would not have time to hold the regular gathering and also remain at their buildings until close of study hours to receive the teachers' statements.

Getting Much Better

Miss Lizzie Singleton is daily getting better, but is not yet able to resume charge of her room in the school. She was operated on a month since at Riverside hospital in a private ward and remained there until last week when she recovered sufficiently to be moved back home, where she is gradually getting well, but it will be a week or two yet before she can start back to teaching. While she is out Superintendent Samuel Billington, of the county schools, has charge of her room, he kindly agreeing to do this for Superintendent Lieb, of the city schools, on account of there being no substitute to take Miss Singleton's pupils in hand.

TWO DEAD AND A NUMBER INJURED.

Tornado Passes Over Georgia Town—Property Loss Over $150,000.

Albany, Ga., Jan. 4.—A tornado of terrific force passed over Albany at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, coming from a southerly westerly direction and spreading ruin and desolation over portions of a dozen blocks. Several persons are dead, others will die as the result of injuries and many are more or less hurt.

Hundreds of negroes in the city are homeless and many have lost their household effects. The injured are being cared for and efforts are being made to secure shelter for all. This is difficult, owing to the scarcity of all kinds of dwelling houses in the city. Under direction of Mayor Ralston, relief will be secured and promptly furnished those in the greatest distress.

It is difficult to estimate the property loss. The Virginia-Carolina Chemical company is the principal sufferer. It is safe to say that the total loss will exceed $150,000. Very little of the destroyed property was protected by tornado insurance.

The Southern Bell Telephone company is among the heaviest sufferers. Its lines were down in several parts of the city.

Some little apprehension is felt for Pretoria in the southwestern part of the country. The tornado came from that direction, and as the telegraph wires are down nothing can be heard from there.

W. L. Brown, of Rockwood, Tenn., telephoned his wife that he never felt better in his life and then turned from the phone and dropped dead. He suffered from heart troubles.

Ernest Palmer Leaped From Buggy Into Mayfield Creek Yesterday.

Yesterday one mile out of Mayfield Mr. Ernest Palmer, a well known young man of the county, attempted suicide in a very unusual manner. He leaped into Mayfield creek and was nearly gone when rescued by a friend who took him to the shore. He is now there in a dangerous condition.

Palmer resides some miles out of Mayfield, and was yesterday going to that town in a buggy with a friend. While they were crossing the bridge spanning Mayfield creek, one mile out from town, Palmer leaped over the side of the structure and into the surging waters of the stream. He sank several times, but his friend, surmising his intention, leaped over into the water and rescued him just as he was going down the last time. Palmer is 35 years old and comes of a fine family of Graves county.

MAY LIVE IN WASHINGTON.

Friends of Blackburn Think He Will Leave Kentucky After Term.

Washington, Jan. 4.—The future of Senator Blackburn was a source of much speculation here today. Washington people are counting on him as one of their permanent fellow-citizens. This theory is based on the fact that Mrs. Blackburn's home was here before their marriage and the senator has spent a large part of his life in Washington. The senator has a handsome bluegrass farm in Woodford county which will yield him a nice income. It is doubtful whether he has decided as to his future plans. It is probable he will have some offers to go into law partnership here.

BOMBARDING

RUSSIAN STRIKERS MURDER POLICEMAN AND SLEEPING DRAGOONS.

Many Laborers Have Been Killed, and Over 100 Wounded Have Been Carried to Hospitals.

Riga, Livonia, Russia, Tuesday, Jan. 2, by Courier to St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—About 5,000 workmen before daylight this morning invaded and took possession of the Provodnik rubber factory and the military, as this message is forwarded, are bombarding the factory.

The revolutionists killed the policemen who were guarding the building, and a detachment then crept into an adjoining structure, where a patrol of dragoons was asleep and murdered eight dragoons and six stablemen and wounded eleven others. One man managed to escape and gave the alarm to the troops, two regiments of which, with artillery and six quick-firing guns, arrived at the scene by daylight. In the meantime the revolutionists had thrown up barricades, and a terrific fire was opened by the troops on these defenses and on the factory. In the midst of the confusion existing as this dispatch is written it is impossible to ascertain the number of killed or wounded, but many men have been killed and over a hundred wounded have already been carried to the hospitals. The soldiers are almost insane with fury. The territory in which the factory is located has been picketed off by guards who threaten to kill any person approaching. The correspondent had a narrow escape. He unwittingly entered the prescribed territory through a side street and was twice fired on before he had an opportunity to explain.

Surrender Reported.

London, Jan. 4.—A special dispatch from Copenhagen today says that the workmen who seized the Provodnik rubber factory at Riga, Tuesday, surrendered and delivered up their leaders to the commander of the troops.

America Has Rights.

The government's view is that America has by virtue of her ancient interest in Morocco rights even superior to those of any European state in deciding the critical questions which will come before the conference. The basis of this statement is that America single-handed made war upon the Barbary states, wiped out piracy in Mediterranean waters and concluded the first treaty of any civilized nation with those states, a treaty which has formed the basis of the demand of every other nation for favored nation treatment at the hands of Morocco. So from considerations such as the perpetuation of the open door and fair trade for all in Morocco the United States government feels that it has the right and duty to participate in this important conference.

As to the questions of policing the Moroccan frontier, they stand uncompromitted either to the Germans proposition, which favors the creation of an international police force, or the French plan of employing Algerian police for this purpose.

HAS NOT BEEN IDLE.

France's Activity Cause of the German Preparation.

Paris, Jan. 4.—The ambassador of one of the powers said that careful inquiry had convinced him that the recent revival of French military activity, which has given rise to alarmist reports, was due mainly to a change from the military methods of M. Berteaux, the late minister of war, to those of M. Etienne, the present war minister.

M. Berteaux belonged to the socialists, whose cardinal principle is opposition to war, and a reduction of military expenditures. This naturally resulted in little activity in military preparation.

M. Etienne, on the contrary, is not affiliated with the socialists, but represents the energetic element, which maintains that the country should prepare to meet every eventuality.

Etienne Begins Preparations.

M. Berteaux's precipitate resignation November 10 brought M. Etienne into control of the military administration, and he immediately adopted a vigorous policy, not for belligerent purposes, but in execution of the general desire to have the army in perfect state of efficiency.

He appealed to the budget committee of the chamber of deputies for exceptional military credits, the details of which were discussed behind closed doors, and he also instituted careful inquiry into the requirements of the frontier defenses, which the last inspection of General Negrier disclosed to be in a lamentable state of inefficiency.

Army in Best Possible Shape.

M. Etienne proceeded systematically to remedy these and other defects, thus placing the army and all equipments and defensive works in a proper state of efficiency.

This, coming coincident with the Franco-German issue over Morocco, led to a widespread impression that the military preparations were designed to meet eventualities arising from the Moroccan controversy.

While Morocco may have accentuated the need for military alertness, yet the chief cause of the military activity is the adoption of M. Etienne's energetic policy of having the army ready to fulfill its functions whenever required.

ENGLAND'S VIEW.

Situation Is Not Considered Serious In British Official Circles.

London, Jan. 4.—Official and unofficial circles in Great Britain do not consider the Franco-German situation as serious. It is true that the reports emanating from France had a slight effect on the stock markets, but this was only temporary. The British government is going on with the arrangements for the Moroccan conference, and while it is a

THEATRICALS

"The Little Duchess."

Olga, the Countess von Hatzfeldt, the bright shining star of "The Little Duchess" company which comes to The Kentucky on Wednesday matinee and night, is a lady well and favorably known to the theatre-going people of the better class. In every city in the Union she has appeared in the big musical comedies and her appearance in roles of this class has always resulted in success—for it is in this kind of work that she appears to the very best advantage. The countess is young in years, but has had a varied experience in musical comedy and light operatic roles. Her dainty and petite face and figure, her attractive and charming manners, her sweet sympathetic voice have all added to her charms and made of her a decided favorite wherever she has appeared. Her charming personality combined with her clever ability has placed her among the stars of the operatic stage and today she is playing a part that is most suited to her attractive style of acting, for in these roles she has the temperament that go so far to make of them the success that they are. The production is the famous Anna Held musical comedy and is one of the most elaborate now before the public. The countess has the role formerly filled by the well known French artist, Anna Held, and in this role she brings to the attention of her audiences all those qualities which go so far in pleasing the blasé theatre-goers of the critical class.

Where Thomas Dixon, Jr., Lives and Works.

Those who have enjoyed the thrilling scenes and climaxes of "The Clansman," Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s marvellously successful play which will be presented at The Kentucky next Friday night, the 12th, would probably imagine that the gifted author was a man who could never be contented away from the hustle and bustle of the strenuous life of a crowded city. Quite the contrary. Mr. Dixon says that "The Life Worth Living" is found in the quiet of the country, and he has proved this faith by his work. Several years ago he was the owner of a handsome brownstone front in New York. It was delightfully located near Central park and in an excellent neighborhood. He had spent thousands of dollars in fitting it to his own taste, and finally he found that he was the owner of $25,000 worth of stone, mortar and accessories. To quote Mr. Dixon: "Our home was just a nineteen foot slit in a block of scorched mud with a brown stone veneer in front."

There are thirty-six rooms in Mr. Dixon's home and yet he does most of his writing in an old tumble-down house across the creek where he has fitted up a studio as quaint as the den which Mark Twain built on the hills east of Elmira, New York.

An ideal location is the home of Mr. Dixon and little wonder that it inspired the following tribute—a pen picture that is as palpable as if it were glowing on painted canvas:

"The lawn stretches away into a reach of 300 yards of open green sward before it merges into the tide. The flashing glory of opal, emerald and turquoise water, changing its tint with every passing cloud and breath of wind, reflecting every mood of sky and shore, with each white-winged sail that skims its surface—all now are of the rhythm of our very life. The storm, with its ten thousand whitecaps dancing and foaming and thundering on the shore, the mirrored pictures of the calm, the endless panorama of sun and moon and stars, are ours for the lifting of the eye."

STEEL TRUST WILL PAY REGULAR FREIGHT RATES.

Acceptance of Rebates and Privileges Ordered Stopped by Mr. Corey.

Cleveland, Jan. 4.—The leader today says: The acceptance of rebates and special rates from railroads by the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies has been ordered stopped by President W. E. Corey.

A letter containing such an order, and signed by President Corey has been received at the local offices of the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary company. Railroad freight men who have attempted to do business with local officials of the steel corporation have been shown the order.

That rebates and special rates have been received by the American Steel and Wire company is admitted as a probability by railroad freight men, but that the rates were made with their individual roads is denied by them.

Freight rebates is one of the many phases of the freight rate question in this district that United States Attorney Sullivan is investigating. It is said by some who claim to be in a position to know that one of the secret reports that the commissioner of corporations, James R. Garfield, will make to President Roosevelt is the relation of the steel corporation to the Pennsylvania railroad.
